Reds Drive on 3 Nazi Bases In Old Poland

RUSSIA—Smashing relentlessly westward Red forces have opened a new offensive towards Mozyr, southwest of Gomel, while the drive into Poland reported the capture of Dombrovitsa, beyond Sarny.

MOSCOW, Jan. 13 (AP)—Gen. Vatutin's first Ukrainian Army, expanding its front on the Sarny sector in old Poland to a width of 50 miles or more, struck out in several sweeping

5TH DRIVE BROADENS NEAR CASSINO

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 13 (AP)—Virtually the entire American Fifth Army was on the move today as it broadened its offensive from near the coast to central Italy and sent French units hammering through 3000 and 4000-foot high mountains to threaten Cassino from a third side.

American infantry swept to within three miles of Cassino in a frontal attack with the capture of Cervaro yesterday.

In the first day of the French offensive in the mountains of central Italy, Gen. Alphonse Juin's troops advanced two-thirds of a mile southwest of Rocchetta, 12 miles northeast of Cervaro.

They captured a 3000-foot peak overlooking the road winding almost due west of Isernia between Coll and Aina, took several points on the 4000-foot Monna Casale range and recaptured two peaks previously lost—Mt. Molino, overlooking Acquafondala, seven miles northeast of Cassino, and Mt. Raimo, in the same area to the north of Viteuso.

On the Eighth Army front there were only patrol activity and heavy artillery fire.

108 Billion War Budget Message

Quick Victory Hinted by F. D.

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (INS)—President Roosevelt submitted to Congress today a "victory" budget in which he hinted at a possible early end of the war in Europe and asked legislation to in-

NEW BRITAIN MARINES HALT JAP LANDING

By FRANK ROBERTSON

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 13 (INS)—Tough American leathernecks, employing artillery with deadly effectiveness, were disclosed today to have halted a Japanese attempt to land forces on Gloucester Bay, New Britain.

In an obvious effort to relieve the threat to their main bastion in the South Pacific, Rabaul, at the other (eastern) end of the jungle-clad island, the Japanese tried to land in the area controlled by U. S. Marines, who already have killed more than 2400 Japs on the cape.

A MacArthur spokesman said, however, that when the Marine artillery opened up on the landing parties the enemy gave up the attempt.

Gen. MacArthur's communique revealed, meanwhile, that the Japanese have stepped up operations along Vitiaz Strait, between New Britain and New Guinea, but that 43 barges, four luggers and other small vessels had been sunk or damaged by U. S. planes and naval units.

Many of the barges were jammed with troops, and it was believed the enemy was attempting to evacuate the New Guinea coastal strip between Saidor, where American troops have been expanding their beachhead, and Poa, where Australian troops have been pushing their way up the coast.

MacArthur's spokesman gave the lie to a Japanese broadcast that Arawe, on New Britain, had been recaptured. It still is in American hands, he said, terming the enemy claim to be "complete exaggeration."

U. S. Bombs Bangkok

LONDON, Jan. 13 (INS)—Domei, the Japanese agency, said today that American bombers attacked Bangkok, Thailand's capital, for "more than an hour" last night.

Dispatches said German troops in front of Rokossovsky's advance were falling back toward Pinsk, and a second threat to that city apparently was developing. Pinsk is 140 miles west of Mozyr at the confluence of the Strumen and Pina rivers along the northern edge of the Pripiet marshes.

OTHER RUSSIAN GAINS

Using Sarny as a pivot, Vatutin sent other flying columns south and dispatches reported them operating within 23 miles north of Rovno, an advance of approximately 27 miles through marshy terrain to high ground beyond. Other units reportedly were striking westward from Sarny toward Kovel, an important junction on the Kiev-Warsaw railway.

In the southern Ukraine, the left wing of Vatutin's forces encountered strong German counterattacks east of Vinnitsa, but continued to smash through German resistance south of Belaya Tserkov.

Further east, Gen. Konev's Second Ukrainian army scored additional successes in the Kirovograd-Salitern.

increase appropriations for war to the astronomical total of $397,000,000,000 by June, 1945.

Mr. Roosevelt's budget for the 12 months' period from July, 1944, through June, 1945, called for appropriations and re-appropriations totaling 108 billion dollars.

During this period, the President estimated, war spending would total 50 billions, while another 10 billions would be spent for federal non-war purposes and to make interest payments on the national debt.

The budget for the last fiscal year approximated 115 billion dollars.

WAR COST 292 BILLIONS

He estimated that the cost of the war up to June 30, 1945—money actually paid out for war purposes—would reach 292 billions.

Several times the chief executive cautiously forecast the war in Europe may end abruptly, and urged Congress to "set up the machinery" for orderly demobilization of the armed forces and reconversion of the nation's huge war industries to a peacetime economy.

The President held forth the promise major demobilization would begin after Germany has been knocked out, even though we are still at war with Japan, by saying:

"If hostilities end on one major front before they end on other fronts, large-scale demobilization adjustments will be possible and necessary while we are still fighting a major war."

His message contained such optimistic passages as:

"In this budget I have outlined

Sky Tanks

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (INS)—Tuesday's American air attacks against Germany were described by a German fighter pilot tonight as "a veritable steamroller."

The Nazi pilot, who spoke over the German radio, said, "Our pilots went through the same experience as the German soldiers in 1917 when the British came against us in tanks."

3 BIG NAZI PLANE PLANTS HIT HARD

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Jan. 13 (INS)—Late estimates on German losses in the blazing aerial battle over the Reich Tuesday, in which three major aircraft factories were blasted out of operation, indicated today about 120 enemy planes were shot down against an American toll of 59 bombers and five fighters.

Dozens of German "possibles" are not listed in U. S. tabulations. The air blow is thought to have halted plane production at the three Nazi plants for months to come.

Tonnage of bombs unloosed on Halberstadt, Oschersleben and Brunswick was not immediately revealed, but the Daily Express called it the heaviest of the war. The major buildings at the Focke-Wulf factory in Oschersleben were damaged heavily.

At the main assembly plant of the Waggon factory in Brunswick, where Messerschmitt 109s are turned out, there was "considerable destruction" in every building except one.

At the Junkers plant in Halberstadt two large workshops and two smaller buildings got direct hits.

Hungary Is Seen Ready to Quit

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (INS)—Hint Hungary may surrender, perhaps to advancing Russian forces, was given today by the newspaper Magyar Orszag in a radio transmission.

"Although there are no Allied armies near enough to the Hungarian border to whom we can surrender unconditionally, we are counting on other means to obtain a lasting peace," the paper said. "On Tuesday a considerable number of Hungarian troops voluntarily surrendered to the Soviet troops advancing on Shepotovska."

Hitler Set to Knife Roumania?

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 13 (AP)—A story that three British officers parachuted into Roumania recently with a copy of a German offer to give large areas of Roumania to Russia—if the Soviets would call off the war—was reported to be making the rounds of the Bucharest diplomatic corps today.

According to the diplomatic account, as reported from Budapest by the newspaper Basler Nachrichten's correspondent, the Nazis expressed willingness for Russia to annex all the provinces of Bessarabia and Bucovina.

The story, the correspondent added, might be merely "a cool British propaganda trick even if true but in any case it can be considered as a characteristic chapter of the nerve war."

This is the story as related to the Swiss newspaper:

On Dec. 24 three British officers supposedly landed by parachute in their way to a house and asked that the police be called, then asked the police to take them to the nearest military command.

There they identified themselves as Col. Petersen, former Ploesti oil employee; Maj. de Charrelli, a former director of an oil company at Urmia, and Metzcanu, a former Roumanian who became a naturalized British citizen.

After informing the military commander they were the bearers of a message from the British government for Premier Ion Antonescu, they were taken to Bucharest where they were seen by the Roumanian general staff. The dispatch did not say, however, that they actually saw Antonescu. The British officers, according to the story, are now held prisoners of war receiving preferred treatment.

AEF Eyes WAC Ship

By AUSTEN LAKE

ON U. S. CONVOY TO BRITAIN—This is Sunday. You know it is Sunday, because the ship's amplifier says there will be church services. Otherwise, life on a transport is an empty void in which time is not, and space is not. The troop ships are individual communities related to the convoy as the stars to the solar system, bound together by a mutual law, but as remote as Arcturus from the Earth.

The ships on our flank and those beyond, occasion the same wonderment as though we were studying them through a penny telescope on Boston Common. We know they are having food trouble, their latrines are getting plugged, their light bulbs are short circuited, their troops are seasick or shooting dice. But we wonder just the same.

On clear days we can see their rails lined with mustard brown, as with crows along a barnyard fence. One (censored) carries a cargo of WACs, and has become the common focal point for the deck lounge's dreamy gaze. Our G. I.'s follow the wallowings of that ship with a fixation common to hoboes watching a soup kitchen. So the deck conversation runs like this. One G. I. says to 'tuther, "Boy—effen ah could swim ovah to that ship ah'd pick me a perky WAC 'n say 'Mam, do me th' honah to stroll down this heah deck, while ah explain the beauties of nature—hey, honey'."

Maid Held for Attack With Iron on Mistress

A Cambridge housewife was hospitalized with severe head injuries today and her maid taken into custody by police as the result of an argument about work the maid should do. The fracas sent Mrs. Esther Mahlowitz, 28, of 1492 Cambridge st., to Cambridge City Hospital.

Gag Roosters

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13 (INS)—It's a misdemeanor now for a rooster to crow in Los Angeles within 100 feet of a neighbor's house. An ordinance vetoed by Mayor Bowron on the ground it might prohibit chicken raising on small lots was passed by city council over again.

HEIR APPARENT—America's number one crooning heart throb, Frank Sinatra, speaks over the telephone from Hollywood with his wife in a Jersey City hospital, following birth of Frank, Jr. The singer holds an International News Soundphoto of his wife and son.

In custody of the police was Annabelle Kane, 31, a native of Nova Scotia, who had worked for Mrs. Mahlowitz two years.

Police said the maid had signed a statement confessing she struck Mrs. Mahlowitz on the head with a flatiron and hurled a milk bottle and a saucepan.

The maid, according to her questioners, said that while she was feeding her employer's baby she was ordered to do all the housework before the day ended. She replied to Mrs. Mahlowitz that she would rather leave.

Then, she is said to have told police, she went to a telephone in the office of Dr. Alexander Mahlowitz, Mrs. Mahlowitz's husband. While she was telephoning a sister in Boston, Mrs. Mahlowitz struck her, then followed her to the kitchen and struck her again, she said.

The maid lost her temper, seized a flatiron from the stove, hit her mistress with it and threw the milk bottle and saucepan, according to her signed statement.

Army Casualties Reach 105,229

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (INS)—Secretary Stimson announced today that American Army casualties in all theaters of war reached 105,229 on the basis of reports up to Dec. 23.

This was the first time American casualties in the Army war theaters passed the 100,000 mark. The total included 16,831 killed, 38,916 wounded, 24,067 missing and 25,415 prisoners of war.

On the Italian front, Stimson said, American casualties to date were 2795 killed, 11,762 wounded and 3559 missing, a total of 18,119.

West African Army Joins Mountbatten

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Royal West African Frontier Force, recruited from Nigeria, Gambia, Gold Coast and Sierra Leone, has arrived in India to serve in the Allied southeast Asia command of Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten, it was announced today.

It is the first time in the history of the four colonies that the West African force has been sent to an overseas theater of war.

15-to-18 Year Term Given Bandit Moran

Convicted on seven holdup charges, George Moran, 20, of 1 st, South Boston, today was sentenced to state prison for 15 to 18 years by Judge John V. Spalding in Suffolk Superior Court.

Commenting on a plea by Moran's counsel for mercy, Judge Spalding said:

This defendant started his career of crime at the age of 10 and his offenses have gradually increased in severity. Sentences and subsequent parole given him have proved no deterrents."

Moran was acquitted on two additional holdup charges in the jury's sealed verdict reached after three hours' deliberation.

On those two counts, his fiancée, Dorothy Martin, 17, testified he was in her company when the holdups were committed.

Moran's youthful accomplice, Walter Lynch, 18, of Baxter st., South Boston, was given an eight-year term in Concord Reformatory after he pleaded guilty to nine additional holdup charges. He had pleaded guilty to nine charges earlier.

No disposition was made of a third defendant, Francis Barry, 22, medically discharged soldier, who pleaded guilty at the start of the trial and turned State's witness.

Cash to Vets Demanded As Justice

By FRANK J. REILLY

Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Urging his colleagues to be generous with those who have offered their all for their country, Cong. Angier L. Goodwin of Massachusetts today warned Congress that mustering-out pay is not compensation for hardships suffered by discharged servicemen.

ACCUSED WAC—Bringing counter-charges that she was being persecuted by a WAC captain, Lieut. Virginia Wight leaves her attorney's office in Washington. Civilian lawyer was employed by her to fight charges that questioned her fitness to be an officer.

"The veterans of this conflict, both those disabled in action, and those broken in health by training camp rigors, cannot be compensated for the suffering, mental and physical, which they have undergone," he said.

"To approach their problem with a view to paying them for services given the nation is to fall into serious error.

"The sole purpose of mustering-out pay is to make certain that the veteran has money with which to bridge the gap from military to civilian life.

"Mustering-out pay, therefore, is a measure of simple justice and it must not be regarded in any other light."

House members who favor just and generous treatment of the former service people are dissatisfied with the provisions of the bill reported out by their committee on military affairs and will move to amend it when debate on the measure begins Monday.

Congressman Thomas J. Lane of Lawrence heads a faction which is insistent that maximum compensation for veterans should be 12 months' service pay rather than the $300 recommended by the Military Affairs Committee.

Lane also believes that veterans over 35 who left the service voluntarily to enter war industries should be beneficiaries of the measure.

Strongly supporting him in this stand is Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell, who declared that many men in the over age group were induced to return to civilian life by family responsibilities or because they had difficulty in withstanding the rigors of training camps.

Meanwhile, the American Legion bill for a comprehensive program for discharged veterans found more and more powerful allies in Congress.

On the Senate side, Sen. Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri declared that "come hell or high water" the American Legion's so-called Bill of Rights for GI Joe and Jane, or its equivalent, must be passed.

And in the House, Rep. A. J. Sabath of Illinois, chairman of the rules committee, promised there would be no "gag" rule allowed when mustering-out pay comes up for debate on Monday. Sabath said:

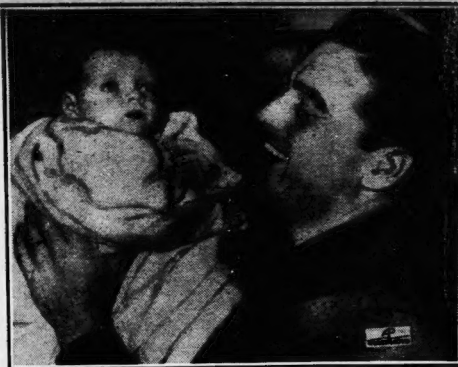

"We want to keep the thing open for amendments, and see if we can get more for the boys.

"I am not in favor of a closed rule on this matter. There is too strong a feeling that the bill, as reported out of committee, is inadequate."

At the same time, New England Congressmen continued to receive telegrams by the score urging just treatment for the veterans.

One telegram, sent jointly to John W. McCormack and Joseph W. Martin, Jr., respective majority and minority leaders of the House, came from William H. Bright, national secretary of the War Parents of America, which read:

"Adequate mustering-out pay for discharged servicemen and women of World War II is one of the main objectives of our organization. Membership consists of parents of men and women now serving in the armed services. Our organization urges passage of the bill sponsored by the American Legion. We further urge immediate action be taken on the floor of the House on this vital legislation."

J. A. Stillman, Banker, Dies

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—James A. Stillman, 70, former board chairman of the National City Bank of New York and noted financier, died today at the New York Hospital after a brief illness.

Stillman was active as a director of the bank up to the time of his death. On Wednesday he celebrated his 40th anniversary on the board. His tenure as director was the longest on record of any member of the board of National City.

Combine Vet Aid Groups

Boston's agencies to aid the war veteran in readjusting himself to civilian life soon will be in one compact group, located on the fourth floor of the old Houghton & Dutton building in Tremont st.

Dr. G. Lynde Gately, Boston health commissioner, has been appointed by Mayor Tobin to head a committee to contact the various agencies and obtain figures on the amount of space each would require, it was disclosed.

According to Dr. Gately, many of the organizations have already accepted the invitation of the mayor, which was designed to afford the veteran a central place where all the various relief agencies would be available to him.

$100 Lynn Fine In Whiskey Raffle

Arthur H. Sewade, 52, of Boston st., Lawrence, was fined $100 by Judge Ralph W. Reeve in Lynn court today for promoting a lottery by selling chances on a bottle of whiskey to fellow-employees of the General Electric war plant.

General Electric police testified Sewade sold chances on a punch-board for 25 cents each and that there were 35 chances to each board.

Truman Opposes Drafting Of Labor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt's request for legislation to draft civilian labor for the home front ran into new and unexpected opposition today from Chairman Truman (D.) of Missouri, of the Senate's war investigating committee, for years an Administration booster.

At the same time Chairman Reynolds (D.) of North Carolina, of the Senate military affairs committee expressed doubt that a national service bill re-offered by Senator Austin (R.) of Vermont, could survive committee opposition.

Reynolds said the committee is considering the Austin bill "in the absence of specific Administration legislation."

"I'll be surprised if the committee approves it," he added.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky said he had heard nothing about the likelihood that a White House bill, reportedly drafted by Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the Man Power Commission, would be presented to follow up the President's recommendation.

Two top labor leaders, William Green of the AFL and Philip Murray of the CIO, emerged from a conference with President Roosevelt yesterday with "nothing to say." They previously had issued scorching statements against the proposal.

Naples Typhus Epidemic Grows

CAIRO, Jan. 13 (AP)—A typhus epidemic is now raging in Naples 50 times as extensive as it was in October and has become a potential menace to the Allied war effort, although the disease has not spread to the troops, Brig-Gen. Leon A. Fox of Birmingham, Ala., said today.

Fox, field director for the United States typhus commission, declared "Naples is now seriously threatened and the menace can be expected to southern Italy."

Allies in Hour Raid On Thailand Capital

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Tokyo radio said today Allied planes had raided Bangkok, capital of Thailand, for more than an hour last night, but asserted that only non-military facilities had been hit, "due to swift interception by Japanese planes."

The broadcast, recorded by the U. S. foreign broadcast intelligence service, described the attack as a follow-up to a three-hour raid on the same city the night of Jan. 10.

Merit promotions in recognition of their heroism during the invasion of Italy have been received by two New England sailors, the First Naval District announced today.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Berlin radio said today Dr. Victor Basch, 84, former president of the French League for Defense of the Rights of Man, and his wife had been found "murdered," Jan. 5, near Lyon.

Basch, one of the defenders of the famous Joseph Dreyfus, served as a professor of German philosophy and literature at the Sorbonne in Paris more than 25 years.

Planet Jupiter Seen in Eclipse

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Clear skies this morning gave professional and amateur astronomers an excellent view of the eclipse of the planet Jupiter by the moon, an event that has not been visible from the eastern part of the United States for 48 years.

The eclipse began at 8:01 a. m. EWT, and the planet reappeared at 9:03 a. m.

Prof. William H. Barton, curator of the Hayden Planetarium, who was able to view the phenomenon from his apartment window, said that although the eclipse could be seen without binoculars, it would have been more spectacular if the moon had been in its first phase, rather than approaching its last quarter.

100 NEW WAVES, 68 FROM GREATER BOSTON, LEAVE SOUTH STATION FOR TRAINING

BACK-TO-SEA VOTE HALTS FISH STRIKE

Their strike ended by a back-to-work vote, concluding two months of idleness which made a 40,000,000-pound dent in fish production, Boston fishermen prepared today for a resumption of fishing operations over the week-end.

Only the formality of a vote by New York members of the Atlantic Fishermen's Union, scheduled for this afternoon, delayed the official announcement of the end of the walkout, after 422 Boston members decided almost unanimously to resume work.

The vote came at the climax of a stormy meeting in Faneuil Hall, during which union officials blasted the OPA for cutting fishermen's pay by setting up severe price controls.

Patrick J. McHugh, secretary-treasurer of the union, said the "fight with the OPA" will be continued through pressure on Congress.

It was a foregone conclusion that the New York branch of the union would concur in the strike suspension action, which started in New Bedford when fishermen of that port voted on Monday to go back to sea.

Fishermen here called for formation of a labor-industry advisory committee to work out issues in dispute and requested a review of the fishing industry and prices by Economic Stabilization Director Vinson.

100 Waves Leave Hub for Training

More than 60 Greater Boston girls left in a contingent of 100 from the South Station today for training as WAVES at Hunter College, N. Y., —but none with more pride than Joan Yarnell, 20, of 42 Hichborn st., Brighton.

Joan was living up to a tradition. She comes from a family of "seadogs," including Rear Adm. Harry E. Yarnell, U. S. N., retired, her granduncle, once commander of the Asiatic fleet.

At the station to wish her luck was Chief Petty Officer Harold Jones of the shore patrol, who was given his first rating 26 years ago by Adm. Yarnell.

Another girl with a purpose was Mrs. Wilma D. Macalman of Auburn, N. H. Her husband, Stuart, a pharmacist's mate, 2d class, was reported missing after the sinking of the U. S. S. Wahook.

"If I can relieve some Navy man from active duty, perhaps he will even the score for me," said his young widow.

Two sailors kissed their 'ancees farewell as the WAVE recruits left. Jean Kisel, 20, of Uphams Corner, Dorchester, was escorted by Ray Miserendino, of Newark, seaman 2d class. Mary Catherwood of Marblehead said goodbye in the arms of Joseph Cuffee, also of Marblehead, an electrician 2d class.

Anne O'Brien of Broadway, Revere, disclosed she had celebrated her 20th birthday by joining the WAVES and had prepared for a Navy berth by working at a Naval war plant.

A WAVE, but not a member of the departing recruits, was Jean Lawless, Marblehead storekeeper 2d class. She was there to bid good-speed to Alice Palmer of Somerville. Miss Lawless had expressed in having herself detailed to the South Station. Miss Palmer explained it was due to her chum's enthusiasm that she had followed her into the service.

Youngest of the farewellers was Hope Mekkelson, 2, who was lifted up for a kiss from her godmother, Nancy Hunting, 20, of Newton Upper Falls.

Postwar Planes Low as $1000

DETROIT, Jan. 13 (AP)—An aircraft session of the Society of Automotive Engineers heard predictions today that the postwar period will bring privately-owned airplanes costing as little as $1000 and a large market for private planes if industry creates it.

William D. Hall of the Aeronca Aircraft Corp., Middletown, Ohio, visualizing planes for pleasure, business and sport, automatically controlled at least to the equivalent of "bath tub safety," described three postwar types.

A lower-powered, two-place trainer selling for around $1000, he said, would represent "the minimum amount of aircraft that will satisfactorily fly." Others were a super-safe, two, four or five-place model selling for $1500 to $3000, and a two-place low-wing, high-powered, top performance plane selling for $2000.

Eloper Indicted For Selling Child

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13 (INS)—FBI agents charged today a Hammond, Ind., woman, under indictment for violation of an auto theft, sold one of her five children for $50.

The defendant is 32-year-old Harriet Dale Horton who, federal agents said, eloped last March, deserting her husband and four children, and then sold the fifth child.

Indicted with her was Oren Alvin Clark, 32.

The pair came to San Francisco where they ran a filling station. Authorities said they stole an auto and $275 when they left that job and pursued the same tactics all the way back to Indiana where they were captured.

Ice-Pick Killing Tragedy Family To Claim Body

In a Roxbury home stricken by tragedy and made almost penniless by the arrest of her son, the principal breadwinner, Mrs. Leila Cook said today she will claim the body of her husband, stabbed to death by the son with an ice pick last Tuesday.

"At least we must see that he is properly buried," said the sad-faced widow with reference to the man who, according to the family, abused her daily and finally paid with his life.

"The problem is that we have no money for funeral expenses."

The body of William Cook has been released at Southern Mortuary for burial, and because he was a veteran of the brief Mexican War in 1916 there is a possibility of federal aid toward the funeral expenses.

WILL SEEK JOB

"The only one working in the family now is Florence," the mother said. "I'll have to try and get work to help pay the bills."

Florence, 22 years old, is a City Hospital nurse. Robert Cook is only 17. William Cook, Jr., 25, who was the main contributor to the family support in Brookford st., is now in Charles st. jail, held without bail on a murder charge, but with officials sympathizing with him in his plight.

There was no insurance carried by her husband, Mrs. Cook said, as she prepared to go to the jail for her first visit to the son who sprang to her protection Tuesday morning, according to the family, when his father had the mother backed into a kitchen corner.

LACK CASH FOR LAWYER

Because of money lack and with no relatives from whom to seek aid—both Mrs. Cook and her husband were orphaned long ago—the mother has hesitated about seeking counsel because she has nothing except a promise with which to meet counsel fees for her son's defense.

In Roxbury court yesterday Judge Frankland W. L. Miles advised her sympathetically to get a "good lawyer," but without means that is not so easy.

"Perhaps after the funeral we may think of some way out of our troubles," she said wistfully. "Then I can concentrate on my boy."

New Navy Ribbon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—A commendation ribbon of myrtle green with a white stripe, for Navy, Marine and Coast Guard personnel receiving individual letters of commendation, has been authorized by Secretary Knox, the Navy announced today.

TEN-POUNDER—Peter Holden, son of Actress Brenda Marshall and William Holden, faces the camera with his mother after placing fourth in a Hollywood stork derby. He was nosed out by the offsprings of Joan Bennett, Cobina Wright, Jr., and Gene Tierney. He weighs 10 pounds, is two months old.

Police Trace Jap Captive Clue

Police today were trying to find in South Boston the home of an Army sergeant, now a prisoner of the Japanese, who has a sister named Julia and whose address was thought to be 578 East Seventh st.

This address and the rest of the information was received by the headquarters radio room on a postcard signed with the name of Mrs. Wyman Williams, 2025 Diamond st., San Diego, Cal.

Her message said that while listening to short wave she heard a broadcast from some Jap prison camp which mentioned some Army sergeant whose name she did not catch. But she thought she heard the South Boston address and she did hear mention of the sergeant's sister, Julia.

The broadcast said the sergeant would like his family to write him. South Boston police, under Lieut. Leo Holan's direction, have thus far been unable to locate the home of an Army sergeant with a sister Julia.

BOYS CALLED MOTHER "UNFIT"—The Butler boys, Frank, 15, and (middle) Paul, Jr., 17, are shown with their father, Paul, Sr., after they testified in Chicago court that they thought their mother, Mrs. Marjorie Stresneuter Mathias, wife of a naval lieutenant, was not fit to have their custody. Butler and Mrs. Mathias were divorced in 1933, the fight now being the equal custody of the boys, then granted. International News Photo

N. Y. Bank Faces U. S. Charge Of Diamond Trading Plot

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Indictment of the Chase National Bank, reputedly the largest commercial banking house in the world, on a charge of engaging in illegal sale and export of industrial diamonds in violation of the trading with the enemy act was announced by Atty.-Gen. Biddle.

The action was described by Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase board of directors, as an "outrage."

Indicted on the same charge by a Federal grand jury was Leonard J. A. Smit, a dealer in industrial diamonds, and two corporations—Elsantum, Inc. and Anton Smit, Inc.—controlled by Smit. The dealer pleaded innocent upon arraignment and was released in $5000 bail for hearing Feb. 1.

Aldrich said in a statement that indictment of the bank "simply makes no sense."

"All of the acts complained of," he said, "happened before Pearl Harbor and therefore, before the United States entered the war. The Chase National Bank, like all other large banks, had many thousands of transactions which involved the interpretation of the foreign exchange regulations. In carrying them out, we were acting in the closest cooperation with the public authorities."

"The indictment alleges that the bank conspired to aid the Axis. This is ridiculous. We are no more guilty of such action than is the Attorney-General himself and we resent having our reputation damaged in this manner."

"What has been done in the name of the administration of justice is a plain outrage on the home front and crass stupidity on the international front."

Two Sailors Doomed In Mississippi Murder

WAYNESBORO, Miss., Jan. 13 (INS)—Two 18-year-old sailors are under death sentences for the murder of a former Mississippi sheriff.

The two sailors, Maurice Shinnick of Madison, Wis., and Joseph Leemans of Maylene, Ala., were convicted of the murder of former Sheriff Thomas S. Boykin last Nov. 13 and were sentenced to die in the electric chair Feb. 28.

Censor Obeyed By 'Peepshow'

The very naughty and sophisticated comedy, "Peepshow," continues on at the Plymouth Theater, but with deletion of lines which City Censor John J. Spencer ruled are "vulgar" and "profane."

Spencer got out his blue pencil after asking David Burton, director of the play, to call at his office with a script. The latter promised the deletions would be observed.

Most of the lines objected to are spoken by John Emery, who plays the role of Jonathan Mallet, a gay Casanova, and his "conscience," David Wayne, who accompanies Mallet on his bouidoir philanderings.

Woman Rescued Over Protests

Somewhat against her will, Mrs. Agner Clark, 60, was rescued today by Patrolmen Thomas V. McDonough and William Usher of Mattapan station after a front room oil heater flashed and filled the house in Norfolk st., Dorchester, with smoke.

Mrs. Clark, wife of James P. Clark, a Spanish-American War veteran, was carried from the story and a half structure, her hair singed. Patrolman McDonough's eyebrows also were singed in effecting the rescue.

The woman, who protested against leaving the house, police said, was taken to City Hospital, but was discharged when found otherwise unharmed.

Fire and smoke caused $500 damage to the structure.

BAN ON NEGRO COSTS HOTEL FINE OF $100

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (INS)—Martin A. Nicholas, assistant manager of a Times sq. hotel, was found guilty of racial discrimination in the first conviction of its kind in New York city.

He was tried for refusing accommodations to a Negro labor leader under a provision of the civil rights law which makes refusal to provide accommodations because of race a misdemeanor.

William Bowman of Saginaw, Mich., international representative and organizer in Buffalo of the United Auto Workers, CIO, lodged the complaint against Nicholas. He testified he was refused a room last March 23.

Nicholas was sentenced to pay a $100 fine or serve 30 days in jail. The court acknowledged the fact that Nicholas had merely acted upon instructions as an employee of the hotel.

Big War Warehouse Burns in Cambridge

Transformed into a shell of blackened, tottering walls by a general alarm fire unequalled in recent years for vivid display, the huge warehouse of the Bay State Smelting Co. off Lechmere sq., East Cambridge, was declared a total loss today as firemen continued to pour water into the smoldering ruins.

All contents of the rambling brick structure and two adjoining sheds, including tons of naval repair supplies, were wiped out, with the exception of a 10,000-gallon tank filled with turpentine.

By keeping a dozen streams of water concentrated on the tank steadily from the time the blaze was discovered at 10:30 last night, firemen prevented the heat from exploding the turpentine and at daybreak this morning, Cambridge Fire Chief Herman E. Gutheim declared the tank out of danger.

Fire fighters and auxiliary forces were ordered to keep a safe distance from the main building of the smelting firm, as the ice-coated walls threatened to collapse at any moment.

Originally seven stories high, the tower was reduced to four stories when walls and floors collapsed at the height of the fire. Seconds later, the entire roof and third floor of the central warehouse building likewise caved in, causing a vast, red mass of flame to billow 150 feet in the air.

Loss was estimated in excess of $100,000 as metals, rubber, wire, wool and paint supplies were destroyed. Much of the damage was sustained by the Clark-Lorton Naval Stores, sharing parts of the building with the smelting firm.

Chief Gutheim described the fire as the "worst to handle in the history of Cambridge."

Apparatus and hose lines on the Northern Artery caused a big-scale re-routing of inbound traffic this morning. Freight trains, held up all night by the fire, started to move after daybreak when firemen and railroad workers contrived to run hose lines under the tracks.

New Dresses Minus Backs and Sleeves

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—America will see a revival of backless, sleeveless dresses this summer, predicts Designer Clairepotter, presenting a collection of play clothes for sun-worshippers, carrying fabric conservation to the ultimate.

Spare and bare. The dresses are not designed for street wear except in resorts, but it's safe to bet we'll be seeing them worn for everything from shopping to sightseeing.

The Clairepotter collection highlights the fourth day of New York's big week of spring fashion openings, presented in the Paris manner before visiting editors from over the country.

Hit swim suit of the season, as shown by the designer, is a brief affair of black jersey, consisting of a minute bra and baby pants with an appliqued bow-knot belt in shocking pink. Over such suits go little wool jackets and the briefest of ballerina skirts. Also important in the play-clothes lineup are knee-length velveteen shorts.

Another Clairepotter innovation is the two-faced dress, half one color, half another and all outlined in a narrow black piping. Slim, straight and uncluttered, it is shown in rayon jersey or crepe, with one side blue, the other red, or one side brown, the other white, and so on.

Miss Potter shows also the frontwards-backwards skirt, designed to be worn with its little fish-tail peplum hiking out in back or jutting out in front.

Other big news was Norman Norell's presentation of the flapper styles of the 1920's—a series of straight, knee-length, hip-belted suits and dresses frankly termed "Chanel revival." Highlighted in his collection was the middy blouse, one the favorite uniform of schoolgirls, now shown in slim, sleek versions for dress-up wear, even encrusted with sequins.

Boards Set Up To Aid Youth

Local committees for youth guidance, to help youngsters to avoid pitfalls caused by wartime conditions, were in process of organization in scores of Bay State communities today following an appeal by Gov. Saltonstall to mayors and chairmen of boards of selectmen.

"The duties of the members of your official family on the committees I have in mind," the Governor declared, "should not increase their labors in these times of manpower shortage. On the contrary, with teaming-up, the members of your official family can make known to one another and to the community at large the problems which this war situation has created."

"In almost every community some activities in the interest of youth have been started already. You are in a position to make these even much more effective than volunteer efforts can hope to be without your help."

Students Ask Dance Class

Reports on recreation submitted by the Student Committee at the opening of the Fifth Massachusetts Youth Committee Center in Brighton, were so crisp and interesting that the editor decided to publish the highlights. Here is the last one in the series:

By MARION L. MacDONALD
Brighton High School

Suggestions to our Student Committee were many and varied. Dancing topped most lists. Movies were requested. Roller skating and a rifle range down stairs were popular demands. Other suggestions included—basketball, bowling, softball, tennis, badminton, ping pong and deck tennis.

As to dancing, there were requests for instruction in the South American types, such as rumba, tango and samba, the milder forms of jitterbugging, and square dances, which are popular with us now.

The number and type of suggestions showed the keen interest aroused by the Massachusetts Youth Committee plan to use school buildings after hours as places of supervised and wholesome recreation.

Bomb Damage Heavy in Sofia

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 13 (AP)—The entire central part of the Bulgarian capital of Sofia was destroyed by bombs Monday in attacks comparable to the heavy blows at German cities, the Budapest correspondent of the Basler Nachrichten reported today.

All telephone and telegraph communications were broken. Diplomats had only radio on which to send reports. The Russian and former British legations were destroyed. The Parliament building, opposite the American legation, was damaged.

10 NAZIS GOAD 2 TO END LIVES IN U. S. PRISON

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, THURS., JAN. 13, 1944

OMAHA, Jan. 13 (AP)—Two suicides among German prisoners of war at the Concordia, Kan., internment camp were attributed by the Seventh Service Command to "fear of persecution wielded by the Nazis."

The Germans were Franz Kettner, private first class, who slashed his wrists while held in protective custody at his own request, and an unidentified German captain accused of "making remarks against Hitler," who hanged himself after being "removed from his quarters by fellow prisoners and taken to another room, where he was left with a piece of rope, a bed, a chair, a table, and his personal belongings," the command said.

Investigation of the captain's death, the command reported, resulted in "evidence . . . of the existence of a system of 'kangaroo court-martials' in the prison camp compounds" at which "officers were 'tried' and informed that they were found guilty of treasonable acts."

Other German officers demanded that the captain be buried at an opposite end of the camp cemetery from the burial places then designated for the prisoners, and no German officers attended the services, the statement continued.

Newton Flier Made Captain

Lieut. Francis G. McDermott, USMC 22, of Newton, has been commissioned captain, according to an announcement received yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDermott, of 173 California st.

McDermott received his bars on arrival at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 4, where he is to instruct newly-commissioned pilots in dive-bombing, which was his specialty in more than a year of combat service in the Southwest Pacific.

He downed several Zeros and was awarded the Air Medal and recommended for the DFC for conspicuous bravery and efficiency on fighting missions. His father is a former commander of Post 99, American Legion, Watertown. Capt. McDermott is a graduate of Watertown High School and Boston University.

HOME SERVICE BY RED CROSS GETS $598,000

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, THURS., JAN. 13, 1944

In the wake of the announcement of a record-smashing goal of $4,641,000 as Greater Boston's quota in the 1944 Red Cross War Fund drive during March, it was disclosed today that $598,000 of this total will be used for the work of the home service branch of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter.

Most of the funds held for use locally will go to provide emergency aid to members of the armed forces and their families here and for relief to Greater Boston service men held prisoners of war.

Included in the 1944 Metropolitan Chapter budget is also an item for $47,300 for the collection and use of life-saving blood plasma in this area, according to General Chairman Charles F. Rowley of the Red Cross War Fund campaign.

Other typical services which the fund will make possible here, he said, are production of surgical dressings, emergency canteen service, training and maintenance of nurses' aides, remittance of Army and Navy nurses and numerous other war services.

Throughout the nation, the Red Cross War Fund goal is $200,000, of which $140,000,000 is for work of the national organization.

While Greater Boston's goal is $4,641,000, the quota for the Boston Metropolitan Chapter alone is $3,367,000, an increase of 58 per cent over last year.

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 1 pint a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, grating up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with stinging and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

the financial requirements for victory . . .

"I emphasize, however, that this estimate (90 billions in war spending) is tentative; it is based upon the assumption that the war will continue throughout the fiscal year 1945 . . . If, on the other hand, victory should be achieved on one of the major fronts earlier than assumed, I assure the Congress and the nation that war production will be promptly adjusted to the changed requirements . . .

"I hope that this total war program will never be fully obligated or spent."

The message outlined this six-point postwar program:

1—Manpower Demobilization and Re-employment. "To master this great task of reemployment we must maintain and strengthen during the demobilization period a unified national employment and counseling service . . . Special measures are needed to increase the opportunities for the employment of ex-servicemen, particularly those disabled in war service."

2—Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation. "In liberated areas relief must of necessity, be a military problem at the outset. This job will be turned over to civilian administration as soon as feasible."

3—Wartime Readjustment and Preparation for Peace. "As men, materials and facilities are released from war service and production, such resources must be channeled into civilian production on a basis that will assure a high and stable level of production, consumption and employment . . ."

4—Contract Termination and Disposal of Surplus Property. "The policies followed in contract termination and the disposal of surplus property will have a major impact on the speed and effectiveness of the reconversion of industry and the re-employment of those released from war service and war production."

5—Public Works Planning. "Careful advance planning and evaluation are essential to assure that priority will be given those projects that fill the greatest need relative to their cost, as well as to assure that their construction will be timed in accordance with employment requirements."

6—International Problems of Readjustment. "We are now engaged in discussion with other members of the United Nations to work out plans to expedite the international flow of capital into worthwhile long-term investments, to remove obstacles to international trade, and to stabilize currencies."

10 1/2 BILLION IN TAXES

The President reiterated his demand for a tax program which would provide at least 10 1/2 billion dollars additional revenue.

He pointed out that while all government spending—war and non-war—would total 100 billion dollars during fiscal 1945, tax collections would reach only 41 billions, leaving 59 per cent of the current cost of the war unpaid.

"The time to impose high taxes is now when incomes are high and goods are scarce," the President declared.

He reported that in contrast to conditions a year ago, the United States now has excess supplies of munitions of some types, and war contracts of some types have been cancelled in order to use the plant facilities, manpower and raw materials for more urgent war orders.

The President declared "We shall release for civilian produc-

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Your share of this country's 1945 war-and-peace budget is just a fraction of a cent under $726.07—which is $577.33 more than Uncle Sam figured you had in cold cash in your pocket on New Year's Eve.

If the war continues to make necessary the spending of all that $99,769,236,900 President Roosevelt outlined today, it will send your share of the debt to $1877.59.

tion any facilities, manpower, or raw material that are no longer needed for war production, but only when we are sure that by doing so we will not impair the war effort."

According to figures presented in the message, he expects the United States to reach its peak of war production some time late this year and that the total will decline gradually thereafter.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed confidence Congress would take early action to provide mustering-out pay for servicemen and women; and set up an educational and training program to enable those demobilized from the armed forces to prepare for peacetime employment.

New Public Health Building Proposed

Construction of an adequate building for the State Department of Public Health, preferably in the medical center near Huntington and Longwood Aves., was recommended to Gov. Saltonstall today by the Massachusetts Public Health Council.

Dr. Vlado A. Getting, commissioner of public health, said the offices and laboratories of the department are now scattered in five buildings here and one in Lawrence. Some employees at the State House are working in a corridor converted to office space, he added.

Denio Blasts $ Slackers In Bond Plea

Dollars, like men and women, can play the role of slackers in this war, declared F. W. Denio, state chairman of the War Finance Committee, as he sounded a new call today to hoarders of "idle money" to invest in the coming Fourth War Loan.

Vast amounts of money are being circulated and spent freely, with war workers and adolescents for the first time carrying "huge rolls of bills," Denio asserted.

The increase of money in Massachusetts has corresponded to that throughout the nation, he said, and was approximately $250,000,000 in the last year, or about the quota for sales to individuals in this state set for the Fourth War Loan.

"It is imperative," Denio said, "that the public realize that hoarded money is idle money. It does no work, it pays no interest, it helps no one, not even the hoarders."

"If this idle cash in Massachusetts was promptly invested in war bonds we would have no worries during the forthcoming Fourth War Loan. This hoarded currency would put the drive over the top almost overnight."

"I sincerely hope that any person in this state who knows of hoarded currency will try to persuade the hoarder to put it into war bonds, or put it into a savings account, or any other investment medium."

WPB Aid Sought On Waste Paper

Because of the "dangerous downward curve" of inventories of paper products from which containers for shells, food and blood plasma are made, N. E. Salvage Director John T. Kiley today called on all WPB special projects field men to help in the waste paper drive.

"These men are instructed to seek out and divert into salvage channels old records, pamphlets, files and other items of paper which are stored by business firms and institutions by custom or by law," Kiley said.

He emphasized that the need for waste paper was growing steadily worse and that only an all-out sustained effort by householders and business establishments would prevent the shutting down of many paper mills struggling to fill enormous military contracts.

Close Call

EL CENTRO, Cal., Jan. 13 (INS)—Six Italian prisoners of war who escaped from a detention camp at Blythe, Cal., were captured by a sheriff's posse within half a mile of the Mexican border.

A patrol headed by Deputy Sheriff Peter Klyne of El Centro, and Chief Richard Wells of the Immigration Border Patrol, eliminated a day-long search when they came upon the six fugitives sleeping behind a sand dune.

MEN and women all over this country are reporting remarkable results in losing weight easily. Many report losing 10 pounds a month and more. They are following the Easy Reducing Plan of Dr. Edward Parfiah, well known physician and Editor, former chief of a military hospital in this country and state public health officer.

Dr. Parfiah's Easy Reducing Plan makes reducing a pleasure because it allows you to EAT FREELY, requires no exercise, HARMLESS, too, because it calls for no drugs.

Here is Dr. Parfiah's Easy Reducing Plan EXACTLY as given over the air to millions: For lunch, take 1 teaspoonful of CAL-PAR in a glass of fruit juice or any beverage. Take nothing else for lunch except a cup of coffee if desired. For breakfast and dinner EAT THE FOOD YOU USUALLY DO, but eat sensibly. Don't eat too fatty, starchy foods—Just cut down on them.

By following Dr. Parfiah's Easy Reducing Plan you cut down your daily calorie intake, thus losing weight naturally. You needn't suffer for a single hungry moment.

Most overweight people should be helped by Dr. Parfiah's Easy Reducing Plan. Try it and you and your friends will be amazed at the improvement in your figure.

CAL-PAR is not a reducing drug—not a reducing agent. It is a special purpose food fortifying the above reducing regimen with certain essential minerals and vitamins. Get CAL-PAR today.

Rockets as Long-Distance Weapons

—Drawn by G. H. Davis. Reprinted from Illustrated London News, Copyright, 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

USE BY THE GERMANS of rocket projectiles mounted under the wings of their aircraft, coupled with reports from foreign sources that Hitler was developing a powerful long-distance rocket gun, have focused wide attention on the potentialities of this type of weapon.

The aerial rocket projectiles have been used in recent months by the Nazis in attacking Flying Fortress formations.

The American Air Force has countered this method of attack by using strong escorting forces of long-range fighter planes.

The drawings above indicate the mechanism of German rockets.

There are two types—the more generally used solid-fuel rockets using slow-burning powder as the propulsive force, and the more experimental liquid-fuel type.

Even before Hitler came into power extensive experiments with rockets were made at the Raketenflugplatz (Rocket Flying Field), in a suburb of Berlin.

After the Nazis acquired control, these experiments received great financial support and new experimental stations were established in other parts of the Reich.

For over 12 years these have persevered with the liquid-fuel type of rocket, which offers greater possibilities than the solid-fuel type.

The gas mixture introduced under great pressure into the combustion chamber when ignited gives a strong propelling force, but the temperature during combustion is so fierce (several thousand degrees Fahrenheit) that immense difficulties resulted.

At Raketenflugplatz the stick-type, liquid-fuel rocket, as illustrated, proved successful and was sent up to several thousand feet, and has since been very greatly developed and improved.

Rockets have now been made in Germany designed for long-distance flight and may be one of the so-called Hitler secret weapons.

A Bill of Rights for Our Veterans

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, THURS., JAN. 13, 1944

"A BILL OF RIGHTS for the servicemen and women of this war!"

THAT is the apt and fitting title of the bill which has been introduced into Congress by the American Legion.

It is high time Congress and the bureaucratic dawdlers and politicians in Washington understood that the American servicemen and women in this war to save the country from two devouring enemies have rights—rights as inviolable and as inalienable as any the Constitution guarantees to civilians.

In an exclusive message to William Randolph Hearst, Warren H. Atherton, National Commander of the American Legion, says that this "Bill of Rights" is being introduced in Congress after surveying "conditions" in thirty-four states, adding that the legion has now a "sensible, over-all program for the care of veterans."

There can be no doubt in any good American mind that the Legion has presented to the nation a sound and sensible basis of veteran relief.

The chief points in the Legion bill are:

- 1—Mustering-out pay and unemployment compensation.
- 2—Loans for the purchase of homes and farms.
- 3—A program enabling those whose education was interrupted to continue it.
- 4—Concentration of veterans' affairs in the Veterans' Administration.
- 5—General tightening-up and streamlining of compensation and care of wounded and disabled veterans.
- 6—Integration of all programs to aid returning veterans to find jobs.

Besides this, there are demands for a "strictly mustering-out pay"—as follows:

Five hundred dollars for 18 months or more of service; $400 for less than 18 months, but more than 12 months; $300 for less than 12, but more than 6 months. Also a veteran will get $100 the day he is discharged. The balance is to be paid in monthly installments of $100.

The object of this bill—which should be earmarked "RUSH" in Congress—is to cut bureaucratic red tape which has already put some of our veterans into the charity line; also to act as a pattern for the general rehabilitation and transition of our men from military life to peacetime pursuits.

Other admirable provisions in this Legion measure are: No wounded or handicapped serviceman can be released from the Army or Navy unless full provision has been made for his care and rehabilitation, and no officer or enlisted man shall be required to sign a statement regarding the origin of his or her disability.

That a man or a woman has suffered a disability in the armed service of the United States, should be sufficient reason for relief.

The American Legion has done a patriotic, human service in sponsoring this "Bill of Rights" for the defenders of the Bill of Rights in the Constitution.

BACK THE LEGION!

Wire your Representative and Senators that you indorse this measure and also the Hearst proposition that every honorably discharged serviceman shall be provided with a year's pay besides the Legion's mustering-out provision, for immediate payment for immediate needs.

We must never have tin cup veterans on the streets of our cities again.

Our New Revenue Collector

THERE is inspiration for millions of young Americans in the career of Denis W. Delaney of Lawrence, recently confirmed as Collector of Internal Revenue for Massachusetts. Mr. Delaney literally rose from a pick and shovel job to one of the highest posts in the State.

Before the late depression he was a successful contractor and a prosperous business man.

When the economic situation ended the work he was doing, he did not give way to despair.

Instead he took the first job he could get with the WPA, climbed every rung of the ladder upward, and finally attained the administrator's position.

His rise was helped no doubt by his ambition in youth. Though he left Boston College to enlist in the Army in 1917, he did not abandon his studies at that time. Even while he was invalided in France he continued his quest for knowledge and won a degree from the University of Bordeaux.

It is also encouraging to recall that Mr. Delaney entered the Army as a buck private and by sheer merit and heroism earned the rank of major.

We wish Mr. Delaney the greatest measure of happiness and success in his new position, and we feel his career proves his ability to carry out the weighty responsibility he assumes.

Golden slumbers kiss your eyes:
Smiles awake you when you rise.
Sleep, pretty baby, do not cry
And I will sing a lullaby.
—DEKKER.

WHAT lullaby did your mother use to sing you to sleep? I asked my mother what lullaby she used for me and she said:

"Nobody had to sing you to sleep. Once your head touched the pillow and often before that you were in dreamland."

In our old neighborhood, in the deep south of Brooklyn, throwing snowballs was a favorite sport. After the kids tired of tossing snowballs at each other they took shots at passers-by. The neighborhood's favorite target was Dr. De Wattoff. The good doctor regularly wore a high silk hat. He suffered the snowballing in silence until one day a kid named Hughie Patton, having run out of snowballs, grabbed a potato from a nearby grocer's barrel, let it fly and made a direct hit on the doctor's silk topper. Then the doctor called the nearest cop. The first heavy snow of the season always revives memories. My girl friend says the first piece she spoke at school, with appropriate gestures, was that part of Whittier's "Snow Bound" which goes: The snow had begun in the gloaming

And busily all the night
Had been heaping field and high-way

With a silence deep and white.
Every pine and fir and hemlock
Wore ermine too deep for an earl,

And the littlest twig on the elm tree
Was ridged inch-deep with pearl.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A string quartet is my favorite kind of music. Practically impossible to tune one in on the radio though. You have to depend on records. . . . A bank name that has always caught my fancy is the Live Stock National Bank of Chicago. Another is the Irish Emigrants' Savings Bank of New York. As to banks in general, I always thought the night and day bank was a good idea. Hope it is revived after the war. . . . Writes a Bostonian: "Want a treat, Eddie? Try this recipe. Take a cucumber and peel it. Cut it in slices a quarter of an inch thick. Take strips and dip them in a mixture of egg and cracker crumbs and fry like a steak." Whoever originated that dish certainly had quite an imagination. However, as a member of the Try Anything Once Club I will, of course, try this concoction and report later.

BRIEFLY: How many different things does your wife carry in her handbag? Four Hollywood actresses at lunch decided the one with the most things in her handbag would have to pay for said lunch. Jeanette MacDonald paid. She had 69 different things in her handbag. . . . As to tall and terrific girls, consider Mary Murphy, Irish entertainer of the yesteryear. Mary was 7 feet 2 inches tall. She was a good looker and had a wonderful figure. She was a dancer and singer.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:

Q—Wouldn't you say the most used restaurant slogan is "A Good Place to Eat?" A—Either that or "Famous for Food." . . . Q—Can you name six words each having 25 letters or more? A—Can only think of four right now—antidisturbance, anticonstitutionalism, noncosmopolitanism, and internationalism. . . . Q—To decide an argument in our outfit, was Lola Montez, the actress of Spanish or Mexican birth? A—Neither. She was born in Limerick, Ireland. Real name: Lola Gilbert. . . . Q—So you say the home stretch at Aqueduct is the longest in the country. I'll bet you a box of sogies the home stretch at Washington Park, Chicago track, is longer. A—I continue to claim Aqueduct has the longest home stretch of all.

SIDELIGHTS: Said Mathew

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Wednesday—Yesterday morning I spent very largely in doing the things which keep us in good marching order. I went to the dentist, and on the fly, I bought some birthday and Christmas presents for the coming year at one of these winter sales which one sees so widely advertised in January.

I reached Washington in time to greet with great pleasure, Adm. Halsey and Mrs. Halsey, one of the admirals' aides, Lieut. William Kitchell, and two charming young ladies. I will never forget Adm. Halsey's hospitality to me, nor how grateful I was for his kindness and thoughtfulness at his headquarters in the South Pacific.

LIEUT. KITCHELL is married to a cousin of my daughter-in-law. Since he had to give up his room to me on two occasions in New Caledonia, I have a special sense of gratitude to him. There is another young aide who is here with his wife, Lieut.-Comdr. Douglas Moulton, who did not come yesterday, but whom I hope to see today.

In the evening I went out to speak to the WAVES at their headquarters in American University and we listened together to the President's speech. They have a glee club of WAVES who sing delightfully and I wish we could have listened to them for a long time.

THIS MORNING I REREAD the President's message. The more I go over it, the more I realize that this is a restatement in more concrete terms, as far as the second bill of rights goes, of the objectives we have been striving for since 1933.

As a nation, however, we have never really accepted the fact that this is a war that all the people and that the burden shall be equally carried by us all.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13.—Things are happening fast and furious for Leonard Sillman, producer of "New Faces." Sam Bischoff, acting for Columbia, is negotiating with him to produce an annual movie version of "New Faces."

Also, the energetic young producer has arranged to open his 1944 "New Faces" in San Francisco the last of March. He will introduce to the public at that time four girls—Joan Carroll, Jay Presser, Betsy Beaton and Patricia Van Cleve Lake.

Being introduced by Sillman is almost a 10-to-1 shot for a movie career. Rita Hayworth, Henry Fonda, Tyrone Power and Eve Arden were in his first "New Faces" show and Gypsy Rose Lee in his second. Sillman is also receiving "Little Jesse James" the stage play that first brought fame to Miriam Hopkins.

MILDRED CRAM has sold her last story, "Intimate Strangers," to Columbia Studios. The word is that it was bought for Rita Hayworth. But, of course, that all depends, I suppose, on whether her suspension is lifted. "Intimate Strangers," which must not be confused with the play Billie Burke did years ago by the same name, appeared in a current magazine. Katharine Hepburn was so taken with it that she persuaded Mildred to write the scenario, which she did, but Columbia won out in the sale.

CECIL B. DEMILLE's protegee, Carol Thurston, the little girl who walked into the movie "The Story of Dr. Wassell" without ever having had a minute's experience before the camera, will soon be on the Warner lot. Hal Wallis has borrowed her from C. B. to play the Portuguese fishing girl in "The Conspirators." There are two femme leads and this is one of them. Paul Henreid and Peter Lorre are also in the cast. Four of Hal Wallis' pictures were mentioned by Film Daily among the 10 best, which proves that his record in 1943 is something of which he can be very proud.

CRAIG STEVENS, who was a very sick boy and lost 25 pounds before his honorable discharge from the Army about seven weeks ago, returns to his movie career in the role of an invalid. Good looking young Stevens, who is engaged to Alexis Smith, hadn't been planning to resume his career until he got his strength back and had gained some weight. But as luck would have it the perfect part came along in "Since You Went Away," the David Selznick picture. Craig merely has to play an injured officer in a hospital sequence, with his emoting chiefly confined to looking convalescent.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD AT RANDOM: Marguerite Chapman's new heart is Capt. Stanley Pearson. She and Bill Lundigan are no longer thataway; Mrs. Jack Oakie is off for New York to see the show. The ever-loving Jack remains home; Vic McLagen is hoping his first grandchild will be a boy. His son Andy's wife expects the stork in April; Oscar Serlin of "Life With Father" fame arrives here Sunday to be the guest of the Whitney Boltons; the sale of the play may be closed for the movies at that time—and, of course, it may not; friends of John Wayne have had word of his safe arrival in the South Pacific, where he has gone on a camp tour; Margo and Mary Anita Loos are off for Mexico City next week; Gloria Vanderbilt Di Cicco's first assignment for King Features is a color story on Moss Hart; Barbara Stanwyck is still sick and out of her Warner movie, "My Reputation"; The Jack Bennys celebrated their 17th wedding anniversary yesterday. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

AN INTERESTING REUNION IS TAKING PLACE in Boston today, and one of the principals, Capt. W. S. Le Francois of the Marines, is getting a happy surprise—Capt. Le Francois was a leader in that small, heroic band known as Carlson's Raiders. The United States got the cheering news at that time of the first successful American offensive on a Jap-held position—the raid on Makin Island . . . And it is a military secret no longer that many of those valiant Marines owed their lives to the intrepidity of the officers and crews of two U. S. submarines.

CAPT. LE FRANCOIS survived that action because a Yankee submarine transferred him from the beach at Makin to the comparative safety of the Pacific ocean depths . . . The man Capt. Le Francois was surprised to meet in Boston today was the skipper of that submarine, Comdr. William Brockman, U.S.N. . . . Wounded four times, the Marine captain was operated on while aboard Comdr. Brockman's submarine . . . Although the operations were successful, Capt. Le Francois left the Brockman sub on a stretcher—and that was the last time, until today, that he and Comdr. Brockman had seen each other.

THE MEETING WAS ARRANGED by the co-operative efforts of the Navy, the Marine Corps and the staff of the Hollywood studio which made the soon-to-be-released film, "Gung Ho" . . . "Gung Ho" is based on that stirring raid by Col. Carlson's and Col. Jimmy Roosevelt's men . . . The title—not a very good one—means "Work Together," in Chinese, and it was the slogan, it is said, of Carlson's Raiders.

"GUNG HO" was scheduled originally for release in February, but the Hollywood brains agree that the impending "second front" in Europe will focus public attention on that theater of war, to the temporary decrease in interest of Pacific operations . . . Not that Capt. Le Francois or Comdr. Brockman will be likely to agree with that verdict . . . Both the Marines and the American submarines have been making history in the wide reaches of the Pacific.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Joan Blondell's forthright and undiplomatic manner of conducting her career and private life, has placed producer Michael Todd, boss of "Mexican Hayride" in an embarrassing spot again . . . In an announcement in Louella Parsons' column Wednesday, Miss Blondell cried a Los Angeles news flash that she was going "to marry a Broadway producer" (after her projected divorce from Dick Powell) . . . So Miss Blondell volunteered this enlightening detail . . . "I am aware," said she to several million readers, "that there have been rumors about Mike Todd and myself . . ." And then Miss Blondell went on to deny, with supreme firmness, that she and Mike are anything more than friends—by supplementing it by saying that Mike was "the greatest of considerate friends."

MR. TODD, meantime, continues to be the spouse of a charming, cultured former Bookline girl, and the devoted father as well of Michael Todd, Jr., who is just 13 and idolizes his father and adores his mother . . . All the Todds have their individual charm, and when it is exerted in group—as it was in Boston at Mike's now-famous New Year's Eve party (which Dick Powell attended by the way)—it is almost irresistible . . . Why one wonders, was Miss Blondell forced to identify the nebulous "Broadway producer" featured in a stray news broadcast heard by possibly a dozen persons of the Hollywood cognoscenti who happened to be aware of her friendship with the doughty Mike? . . . Mike has certainly been a "considerate friend" of Miss Blondell's . . . She might serve the continuance of that friendship better by being considerate herself of a couple of family circles, including her own.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13—You know what you think of the actors and actresses when you see them on the screen, but often you wonder what they think of themselves when they see themselves on the screen? I've tried, while patrolling the Hollywood beat, to get some honest answers from various performers.

Dorothy Lamour had just finished playing a scene with Bing Crosby and Bob Hope in "The Road to Utopia" when I asked her. She replied: "At first it seemed like catching a glimpse of yourself in a mirror when you're wearing underwear. (That must have been because of the sarong). Later you start wondering what you're doing. Finally, you decide that it would be better if you worked harder at your work."

Veronica Lake was having lunch in the commissary when I walked over to her table and put the question to her. She said: "When I see myself on the screen, I am always a little bit from that person. I never think of that girl up there as me but someone different. That's because I've never played myself, Constance Keane. When I wore my hair over my eye, I used to years to reach up the screen and push it back out of that poor girl's face."

BETTY GRABLE had just come from the projection room where she had seen her latest film, "Pin Up Girl," when I put the question to her. She answered: "When I look at myself I wish I could do it all over again. I get so nervous I actually become ill. When I go dramatic I have to hide my eyes."

Anne Baxter, when approached, replied: "My hands bother me. Also, the way I walk. Sometimes I think I'm never going to get across that room. I never really see the picture; I'm too busy suffering. I used to think that if I went back and saw the picture again I could look at it objectively. I tried it and it didn't work. All I noticed were my hands and my feet."

DEANNA DURBIN had just completed doing a scene for "Christmas Holiday." There were signs posted around the set reading "Silence." Miss Durbin didn't want any noise while at work. She replied: "The first time I saw myself on the screen was in a short at Metro. Judy Garland was in it also. I remember that we went to see it together, and we were so excited and nervous that we were actually trembling. All I recall about the ordeal is that I looked just awful. I felt pretty much the same way about my first features. I had to be convinced by reading the reviews, for the critics should know what they're talking about."

HEDY LAMARR answered the question at the Hollywood Canteen. She replied: "I have yet to be satisfied with myself on the screen. But in a theater when I hear some fellow whistle when I walk across the screen I know I must have something that pleases them."

the cavalry, had charge of the Union Congregational Church's Boys' Club, and studied poetry at Harvard, from which tough-gentle background you get the notion of his fitness for the delicate duties of a soldier's confessor.

Services at a hall fitted with deal tables and benches like those found in picnic parks. And I recommend that the home-folks consider the sincerity of these boys as they bow their close-cropped polls, and listen to the Word.

The writer admits to a distraction from the text of the Rev. Bond's sermon. There was a bench loaded with 16 soldiers just ahead of my "pew," which had worked loose from its fastenings, and swayed to-and-fro with a notic creep at each roll of the ship. The 16 soldiers adjusted their bodies to the alternate pitch with the rhythm of an eight oared crew. All that was needed was a coxswain and the yell of "stroke."

FAMILIAR FACES

There were familiar faces at all four services, each of which was crowded to the hatchways. There was Pfc. Robert A. Benson of Bal-lou ave., Dorchester, an old Mechanic Arts lad, who married his Margie last Aug. 11. And M. P. Pvt. Gerald Hereaux ("The Happy") of Woonsocket, R. I., who used to work in a textile mill as a bobbin boy, and admits being bemused by a young lady named Blanche Gilbeault. And Pfc. Pat. A. Quiste of Maverick st., East Boston, who has a brother John in the Air Corps. And Pvt. Joe P. Sheehan of Appleton st., Cambridge—one of those New England shipyard men heard of and a former Massachusetts General and New Haven Railroad worker.

And Dominick J. Frame of North st., Salem, and Sergt. Orville E. Brosseau of Pleasant st., Worcester.

Brosseau is a career chef who used to concoct epicurean delights for the Copley-Plaza and Touraine Hotels, and hypnotized the deck forums with his imaginary state dinners, beginning with wines and running through souffles and rag-outs that reduce the lads to slaver-ing delirium. And what he said about this ship's cookery! Tsk! Tsk! Drawing himself, by gradual stages, to his full 230 pounds, he remarked, "Ah, the stomach is like the soul. The man is what you put in both. This food . . . faugh! It is sacrilege. It stinks." It isn't that bad, but the boys miss their own Army cooks.

BAGGAGE INSPECTED

As the Catholic worshippers were moving up the right side of the companionways, the Protest-ants were filed down the left. My neighbor, Pvt. Adam O. Biatek of Ware, Mass., was a former dairy farmer who spoke sentimentally about the 30 cows he and his brother used to milk. But now he was sad, having received a letter just before embarkation that his brother could no longer manage the 14-hour, spine cracking labor of handling the herd alone, and would have to sell them off.

"For more than 20 years my

family have lived there," said Adam. I made mental note to refer his case to Maj. Gafney, for here obviously, was a lad who needed consolation, and was moving toward the battle front without enthusiasm. His cows were on his mind and cows were home. Before embarking each soldier's baggage was inspected for such items as electric razors, miniature radios and kindred et ceteras which, if used on shipboard, might give telltale oscillations that could be picked up as directional beater by enemy submarines. The writer is also mindful of his earlier experience on convoy with the Canadians, in which no broad-cast of news via ship's internal radio was allowed. Yet on this voyage broadcasts have been transmitted daily from hookups with London and New York, a source of considerable comfort to the men and indicating that science has perfected some sort of "shielding" device which prevents any "echo" of oscillation.

Thus today the troops heard a laconic account of a bitter sea battle between (censored) convoy and the U-pack. We were still many days away from safe haven.

But the boys' concern was not for themselves. The fight itself made no perceptible impression and the kids went on with their "spittin' and whittlin'."

But Sergt. Henry L. Ratte of Waverly st., Arlington, remarked:

"Heck, I hope my folks don't get the notion that we were attacked. You know how women worry." That was the men's only bother. For Sergt. Arthur Renolds, a Buz-

The troops have an abiding faith in their own imperishability, as is the way with all youth. Their fathers had gone this route in 1918, and imagination weighed the possibility that the political bungling of the coming year might send their boys' sons this way again twenty years hence.

PLAYS MUMBLETYPE

As I strolled aft along the boat decks where the troops have stood monotonously for three hours' boat drill every day, good weather or foul—and believe me, if you don't think that's tedium, just stand for 120 minutes looking at a lot of water—I found David Hynes of Norval st., Stoneham, playing mumbletypeg with a wicked looking trench knife. For some reason, unknown to the men themselves, they have been equipped with this lethal form of sidearms.

Ed Wallace of Naven's Lane, Waltham, was curled up against a bulkhead, like a hen against a sunny wall. Lieut. Col. John W. Buswell, the ranking Bostonian on board, who lives in Newton and whose uncle, Warren B. Buswell was the emeritus drum-major of Aleppo Temple's Shriner Band, was doing his p. m. inspection rounds.

This evening as the rosy egg yolk descended and turned to a flaming carnelian core, with clouds of opalescent shades, it was a marine painter's sky. Land, comfortingly, was somewhere yonder as darkness came by whole sudden octaves. The fingers of night stretched across the sky like a grasping hand. The ships, turned to flat outline, as though cut from black cardboard, inched inexorably onward.

Mary West to Become Air Pilot

By BETTY ALDEN

LATEST SOCIETY GIRL to don a uniform is petite and pretty Mary West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Saltonstall West of Chestnut Hill. She has joined the WASP (Women's Air Service Pilots), and left for Texas to train under the direction of Jacqueline Cochran.

A second cousin of Gov. Saltonstall, Mary made her debut at a festive ball the night of his inauguration in 1939 and has since been very active in social affairs. Before "joining up" she was on the junior committee which helps her mother run the weekly dances at the Army-Navy Officers' Club, and she belongs to the Junior League and Vincent Club.

Her sister, Mrs. T. Desmond Butler, is now living in England with her British husband and infant son, George T. Butler.

IT WILL BE June in January the night of Jan. 25 in the Copley Plaza ballroom when a Rose Ball is held to benefit the Mass. Infantile Paralysis Fund and the National Foundation for Infantile.

Junior committee members who will sell the posies and take part as a unit in the grand march to be led by state and military dignitaries include Rosamond Almy, Carol Bayne, Mimi Aherne, Rose Marie and Lorraine Caulfield, Marie Carey, Caroline Driscoll, Claire Everett, Rose Peabody Gardner, Mildred Fleming, Mary Hatfield, Peggy Kelleher, Mary Louise Lyons, Marie Madden, Janet McKay, Hope Noyes, Kathleen O'Connor, Grace Reed, Virginia Reilly, Jessie Richmond, Frances Westschoeff, Harriet Wright and others.

UNIFORMS of all branches of service, including Army and Navy nurses, added a military aspect to the Morning Musicals audience at the Statler yesterday. Dr. John D. Adams, trustee of the Boston School of Occupational Therapy, and Mrs. Adams, musical committee member, had as guests their sons and daughter-in-law, Corp. and Mrs. Adams, Jr. Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes were guests of Mrs. John A. Greene, and others were Capt. and Mrs. Sidney Licht and Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. H. J. Hall. Ezio Pinza, beloved basso of the Metropolitan, was guest artist.

THEATER FANS—Mrs. David Lukins (Nancy Scott) at the opening of "Peepshow" in the Plymouth. A pair of eye-compelling "shortie" evening gowns in the audience were those of Mrs. Harold G. Kern and Mrs. Stephen R. Casey. The former's was cornflower blue beaded crepe with short sleeves and oval neckline and worn with a fetching half-hat and veiled snood. Mrs. Casey's theater gown was a sheath of gold satin worn with brown sandals and sable hat.

Ship To Be Named For Guadalcanal Hero

Daniel A. Joy, Jr., of Waltham and Belmont, who left Northeastern University to enter the Marine Corps and was killed in action at Guadalcanal, will be honored posthumously Saturday when a destroyer escort will be named in his honor at the Hingham shipyard.

Sponsor of the vessel will be his widow and the parents of the hero will be guests. Joy, killed by Jap gunners while trying to aid wounded companions Oct. 8, 1942, was posthumously awarded the Navy Cross, Purple Heart and Presidential Citation.

MARY WEST—has left for Texas to train for the WASP.

Martin Pattern

Adorably designed with an understanding of tiny figures. Pattern 9047 is right for every day, pretty as can be for Sunday school or party frock. Note the two versions... the lower one with "angel wings" and no sleeves. It will make a cool, comfy dress for warm weather. You can quickly stitch up several!

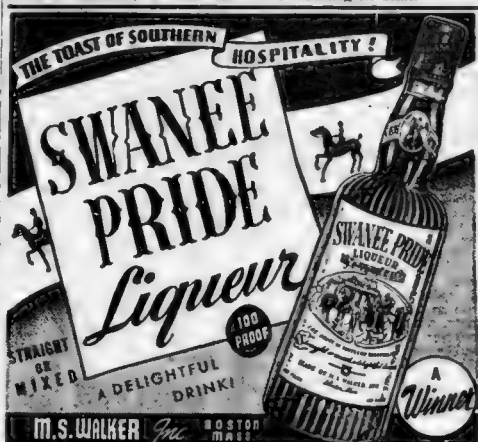

Pattern 9047 may be ordered only in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10.

This pattern, together with a transfer pattern of decorative embroidery motifs, 20 cents.

Send 10 cents extra for new Marian Martin Pattern Book. Complete style selection for all ages. Free pattern printed in book. Send order to Boston Evening American, 21, Pattern Department, 232 West 18th St., New York, 11.

Capt. Stearns Made WAC Staff Director

Capt. Elizabeth W. Stearns, Boston Junior Leaguer, has been made staff director in the WAC First Service Command. It was announced by Maj. Gen. Sherman L. Miles. She succeeds Maj. Katherine R. Goodwin, who has been called to the Washington staff.

TWO THRILLERS AT TRANS-LUX

By DON WARD

The Trans-Lux, known as "the house of horrors," has a couple more superduper this week.

They are "Calling Dr. Death," in which Lon Chaney works as a devilish neurologist to discover the secrets of his victims, and "The Mad Ghoul," the other cute number, also boasting a Mephistophelian medico who knows how to induce spells of suspended animation.

For the fans who have a weakness for these eerie things—and a lot of nice people are funny that way—the two new Trans-Lux shockers are a better-than-average workout.

George Zucco in the mad medico in "Ghoul" and—here's a new wrinkle—they've worked in a musical score, too. In it Evelyn Ankers sings "All For Love" and a selection from "The Bohemian Girl."

They're even setting these things to music, now!

Two More New Plays for Boston

Two more new plays have been announced for Boston openings in the near future. In the Theater Guild's presentation of "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," by Franz Werfel, Annabella of Hollywood and European fame will play the leading feminine role. Opens at the Plymouth on Jan. 31.

The other announcement is about "The House in Paris," coming to the Plymouth Jan. 24. It also has a young European actress, Ludmilla Pitoeff, as its star.

RKO Theatres welcome to Boston Charles P. Skouras, national chairman 4th War Loan Drive of the Motion Picture Industry, and members of the National Campaign Committee.

Fashion Eye Allure Awaits You Beauty

IT IS THE INDIAN INFLUENCE . . . that's got into our hair these days . . . particularly for the shawl drapes for evening wear . . . Cover Girl Dusty Anderson . . . one of the nation's most glamorous . . . wears a purple hair-all with deeper purple sequins to match her dinner gown. It's smart to cover your tresses thus.

It's All in a Name

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN—I am inviting a group of young people to my home for a party. My mother has recently remarried, and of course now her name differs from mine. Will you please tell me just how I should introduce her?

D. W.

So that the one whom you are introducing to your mother may know how to address her, you should say not only "my mother" but give her name as well. Otherwise the person would naturally assume that your mother's name is the same as yours, and there would be name-confusion. Since everyone should be introduced to your mother this is the best form under the circumstances: "Miss Allen, I want to introduce you to my mother, Mrs. Foster." And remember that under this circumstance it is particularly important that you pronounce your mother's name most distinctly.

A First-Class Heel

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—What do you think of a man who, while his wife is expecting her baby and during her stay in the hospital and even after she came home, has been going out with other women, or perhaps it has been just one woman all the time?

I never thought my husband would do such a thing, because I am still in love with him. At first he denied it, but I knew he had someone else in the car, because of the cigarette stubs in the tray. Then when I threatened to leave him he confessed that he had been seeing a certain woman for some time.

A. C. R.

You ask me what I think of such a man—well, sister, I think he's eligible to become The Grand Kleagle of the Original Order of Heels—high heels at that. Any man who hasn't got enough character to behave himself while his wife is in the hospital having a baby seems a pretty poor specimen to me.

You tell me you're still in love with him, so I suppose there's nothing to do but wait until he becomes human again. Failing that, you can then decide on your course of action.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

COURTESY TOWARD WIFE!—A gentleman assists his wife when she is putting on her coat in his presence. He allows her to precede him through a doorway, holds a door open for her.

TUCKED AWAY . . . with utmost privacy . . . is an eye-magic shop . . . where only your eyes come in for extended care and treatment . . . to glorify them and make them wide-awake.

In this little shop . . . you can have your brows plucked and shaped . . . your lashes and brows tinted in harmony to color-match your hair . . . and, you can have the orbs themselves treated with a deftness to draw from them their best and most beautiful glow.

If you've noted the beginnings of tiny crowsfeet at the corners . . . if your eyes are losing their lustre through fatigue and strain . . . you'll definitely want this special grooming . . . In this tucked-away eye-magic shop. And, you can buy all the preparations necessary to do the most for your little facial windows.

Like an artist, the girl in charge . . . caters to the needs of your eyes . . . enlivening them with a treatment that is wondrously relaxing and beneficial. We had such an eye-washing and treatment . . . in the early morning hours . . . when we felt the sleepiest and drowsiest . . . and had not yet awakened from our lethargic morning mood . . . And, in double-quick time the shut-eye look was gone . . . the orbs were bright and we felt like a rejuvenated gal.

The eye-wash . . . a medicinal formula of the highest caliber . . . gave your eyes that cup and saucer feeling that is marvellous. You just know that they sparkle with largeness . . . and that, they have become . . . as they should . . . one of the most glorious focal beauty points of your entire makeup.

AN ESSENTIAL ROUTINE

The tinting of eyelashes and brows is a novel feature . . . but very necessary to most blondes and redheads . . . and to brunettes who want to accentuate their south-of-the-border allure. For eye-makeup has become a most essential routine to the well-groomed woman. This tinting is supposed to last for a six-months period.

The eye cream . . . used in the treatment, enriches the growth of the lashes . . . and many women have found their lashes much longer after they've used the preparation for a while. It is a most necessary aid for those wrinkles around the corners of the eye. Applied at night, before going to bed . . . the cream does the work while you sleep.

Crowsfeet at the eye corners are devilish things . . . annoying gremlins to the fastidious woman . . . and if you've noticed yours just in the beginning stage . . . you'll want to hurry for this eye cream.

When your eyes are alive . . . a woman really feels alive, too . . . Heavy lids, tired eyes . . . and your whole being feels sluggish and phlegmatic. There is something so revitalizing about sparkling eyes . . . which makes you feel young and gay and bright.

For the name of this eye-cream and eye-magic shop where everything in eye beauty is awaiting you, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write the Beauty Dept., care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LET YOUR EYES TELL THE WORLD how lovely you are . . . For they are a focal point of beauty . . . and must be groomed and treated as you do your face and hands. MGM's beautiful Donna Reed has deep, penetrating, soulful orbs that bespeak a restful, feminine personality.

Avoid Too Much Harmony

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WHILE I am a great believer in harmony in dress, and have often spoken up for it, there is one kind of harmony I deplore. This is the harmony of mediocrity, and you've all seen it in action.

There are some girls, and women, too, who get themselves up from head to foot so that everything they wear fits in with everything else, and no clashes. But the effect is completely depressing because it is all so dull and dreary. About as exciting as cold potatoes, they wonder why they never make a stir when they have carefully stuck to all the rules of harmony.

Well, the cure for such harmony is some small discord, if necessary something daring, something out of the prevailing dullness of the rest. You ought to try to always have something in your costume that makes a stir of excitement, though it doesn't have to be as obvious as a three-alarm fire.

Short Cut To Health

By MARTHA LEE

YOU CAN'T ESCAPE a busy life these days, no matter how hard you try. Everyone needs help. Those few who haven't regular jobs are helping those who have—watching out for their youngsters when school lets out, doing odds and ends of shopping, or tucking an extra dish of baked beans or a pan of gingerbread into the oven to surprise the war worker neighbor when her light goes on next door.

In the places where war industries have spread to mammoth proportions, many homemakers are working in the local stores for just a few hours each week because shop keepers appreciate that enough of these "few hour" workers add up to quite a bit of help.

KEEPING UP TO PAR

If all your many added activities are making you feel a little below par, why not start with these two boosters to better health, a heartier breakfast and a nourishing between-meal beverage? Try adding a bowl of hot whole grain cereal or some good old fashioned griddle cakes to the morning fruit and coffee. Sweeten the cereal with molasses and pour it generously over the cakes and you will be adding another plus to the score of good health. And for your between-meal drink, make a milk shake. Stir a tablespoon of molasses into each glass of milk for good flavor and added nutrition.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS

2 cups pea beans
1/4 tsp. baking soda
1/2 lb. mixed salt pork with rind
2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. powdered mustard
Boiling water

Pick over the beans carefully, wash and soak in cold water to cover overnight. In the morning drain in a colander, cover with fresh cold water, add the soda and simmer, covered, until tender. When easily pierced with a fork the beans are sufficiently cooked. Drain again in colander and rinse with cold water. Pour boiling water over the pork and scrape the rind until white, then cut through the rind every half inch, making cuts one-inch deep. Put the beans in a two-quart bean pot with a small peeled onion, if desired. Bury the pork in these so that only the rind is exposed. Put into a measuring cup the salt, mustard, pepper and molasses and fill with boiling water. Stir and mix well, then pour over the beans; add sufficient boiling water to cover. Bake for 6 to 7 hours in a slow even of 300 deg. F., adding boiling water as needed to keep beans just covered, and removing the cover during the last hour to brown the beans and pork. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

GINGERBREAD

2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup shortening, melted
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine eggs, molasses, sour milk and shortening; gradually add to flour-sugar mixture, beating thoroughly. Turn into greased 9-inch square pan and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 40 to 50 minutes. Makes nine 3-inch squares.

GRIDDLECAKES

2 cups sifted flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar
1 or 2 eggs, well beaten
1 1/2 cups milk (scant)
2 tsp. shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine egg and milk; add flour mixture and beat until smooth; add shortening. Bake on ungreased, hot griddle or greased skillet. For a thick cake, use 1 to 1 1/2 cups milk. Makes 2 dozen small cakes.

New Guinea Thrills for JVA

Pfc. Arthur Landfear, Somerville, thrilled members of the "Original Junior Salvage Army" Corps of the JVA at their regular weekly meeting today at Lowell Mason School in Mattapan when he described Jap warfare on New Guinea.

Pfc. Landfear is sponsor of two Junior Victory Army corps in Allston and Somerville and since his return from the battle fronts in the Southwest Pacific has been helping boys and girls to carry out Home Front duties.

Torpedoed twice, a victim of malaria and jungle fever and a veteran of savage fighting against the Nips, Landfear gave the Mattapan unit an exciting account of his adventures.

The corps is made up of 56 boys under sponsorship of Mrs. Fred E. Broderick, mother of one of the members.

They have adopted a "black plan" by which each boy canvasses a group of families each week for old clothing, paper and other salvage materials.

They have been busy for a year in this activity and show no signs of losing their enthusiasm.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

30 South Bend USO Lifts Morale of Service Men

By JACK CONWAY

DURING MY RECENT visit to the Middle West, I found that Chicago and South Bend have opened their hearts as well as their pocketbooks to servicemen. This is why men back from the South West Pacific, Africa, Italy and the other battle fronts like to spend part of their furloughs in the Middle West.

Chicago is probably the most popular big city in the United States with the men of the fighting forces. It has open house for them. For a very little in money men in the service can get a great deal. Apart from the big savings in money, those persons in the armed forces feel the people of Chicago are anxious to do everything possible for them.

Frank Leahy

I got a close up of the operation of the USO at South Bend, Ind. In addition to serving the 4200 naval trainees at the University of Notre Dame, it also cares for thousands of servicemen on leave from nearby army camps and naval stations.

When the United States entered the war, the leading citizens of South Bend decided to go all out for the men in service. Industrial kings like the Studebakers and the Carlises helped to organize a committee of 75. They made arrangements with the USO to rent a large building on the main street which has a spacious dance floor on the second story.

It was decided that the expense of operating the place might be $100,000 to $150,000 a year. At a meeting of the organizers it was agreed to guarantee this expense to the USO.

The wives, daughters and sisters of the industrial, business and civic leaders gave their full aid. They agreed to have from 15 to 25 of their number on duty at the USO at all times to act as hostesses.

Furnished Free Meals

THERE ARE meals for service men at all hours of the day and night without charge. They are as good meals as one could get in any big city hotel.

There is a special group of women who do sewing or alteration work on the uniforms or other wearing apparel of service men. There are fine writing and reading rooms, as well as pool and billiard tables. If a service man wishes a book that is not in the USO library, arrangements are made to secure it.

I was amazed at the large number of service men who took advantage of the dancing. There is a band composed of civilians and service men. The youngsters who play in the band are permitted small sums of money for their expenses.

The hostesses see that the service men meet the young ladies of South Bend. Society leaders, secretaries, school teachers, clerks, girls employed in the industrial plants and students are among those who take part in these dances and social gatherings.

Have Own Radio Show

I STOOD WITH a group of USO workers and service men last Saturday night and watched them put on a first class amateur radio broadcast. There was singing, band music and humorous numbers. The songs of the service units predominated.

In a test vote, Frank Sinatra was tops with the service men at South Bend. This was probably due to the fact there were so many college trainees in the group. Sinatra's youth appeals to them.

Later on the way back to Boston by train, 40 service men took a poll on whether they favored

Frank Sinatra or Bing Crosby. They were older than the service men at South Bend, and the decision went to Crosby by a wide margin.

There is not such a thing as a service man being stranded in South Bend. He can always get the money for necessary transportation at the USO. Most of them later send the money back when they get their pay, but if they are unable to do so it is charged off to the overhead of the USO.

Keeps City Orderly

THE FINE HANDLING of the service men keeps South Bend orderly at all times. The military police who parade the main street are as carefree as cheer leaders at a college football game.

Frank Leahy, Notre Dame football coach, is enthusiastic over the USO.

Men back from the war zones like to visit South Bend as the city takes a genuine interest in their problems. They are asked to remain as long as they wish and they are made to feel at home.

I talked to a veteran marine sergeant who is at South Bend on duty. He told me that the USO with its splendid organization did a great deal to keep up the morale of the men in the service.

The committee of 75, which pays the full expense, and sees that the servicemen get such excellent care, is certainly doing its part in the war effort.

I could also add that these same industrial and business leaders have purchased millions of dollars in war bonds; that their sons and daughters are in the armed forces, and that they are building their share of the war equipment that will beat the Axis. One does not necessarily have to carry a gun to serve in this global struggle.

Bertelli Presented Heisman Trophy

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (INS)—Angelo Bertelli, All-America backfield star at Notre Dame through most of last season and now a member of the U. S. Marines, received the Heisman Memorial trophy, emblematic of football preeminence in the nation.

The award is made annually by the Downtown Athletic Club to the player selected in a poll of sports writers and radio commentators. It was to have gone to Bertelli in December, but he was unable at that time to obtain a furlough from Parris Island. Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame was among the guests.

Army Sets Record

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP)—Army established a new home court record by trouncing Swarthmore, 29, in the academy field house as the Cadets opened their first season under new Head Coach Ed Kelleher, former Fordham cage mentor. The previous scoring mark was 72, established last winter.

Ted Williams Wants A Zero:

By HUCK FINNEGAN

(Approved by Office of Public Relations, U. S. Navy.) Copyright, 1944, by Boston Sunday Advertiser-American.)

PENSACOLA, Fla., Jan. 13 (Delayed)—"Two cokes coming up" banded Ted Williams, struggling with the nickel machine in Soufley Field's Barracks 838. "When?" the chronicler wanted to know, seeing the nickel drop out repeatedly. "What didya give me, a slug?" he barked. "Open, Sesame," he begged but he carried no lamp and the nickel popped out again. "Let me try it," I suggested and uttered the charm words: "Pensacola, Pepsi-Cola, Coca-Cola." Sure enough, before the climactic "Cups-a-Cola" was reached, the second bottle came sliding out majestically.

"Gee," said Ted between gargles, "I'm sure glad you came down. Nice to see somebody from Boston again. I've got a lot of real friends there, despite all the enemies I might have made. Know who writes me regularly? Capt. Joseph A. Gainard, skipper of the City of Flint. Remember how the Germans took it over before we went to war? Moe Berg brought him out to the park one day and introduced me. I could see he was the McCoy the minute I met him. Certainly has given me plenty of encouragement. (Note: Capt. Gainard died recently.)"

BASEBALL CROWD GREAT
"The baseball crowd is great, too," Ted continued. "Herman Roberts has been fine here, and I'll never forget Buddy Hassett, Ace Williams (Braves) and Joe Cusick (Holy Cross) at Chapel Hill. They're all officers and didn't have to truck with me. But every chance they got they gave me a lift. O. yes, little things help an awful lot. I appreciate them."

Ted also mentioned Stephen H. Roberts of the State Street Trust, his financial adviser ("I was nicked for four grand when Mr. Roberts heard about it," etc.). Mr. and Mrs. George Nichol of West Roxbury, whose son Donald Ted used to visit in the hospital. "Bobby Doerr and Skeeter Newsome are my two best pals on the Red Sox," confided the 406 kid who at times acts like a lonely home body.

"But," said Ted, and it was a great big BUT, "if I do get my wings in April and achieve my ambition of qualifying for the Marines, the two persons I'll have most to thank are Doc Ewen, ground school instructor at Amherst, and Lot Finke, my roommate at Amherst and Chapel Hill.

PAL WASHES OUT
"Boy, was I a dunce when I enrolled at Amherst. Had been out of school since '37 (Hoover High, San Diego) and didn't study too much there. Finger was a whiz. He had graduated from Rensselaer Poly and he knew more about math and physics than Einstein. He was particularly helpful with wing velocity and stuff that was strange to me at the time."

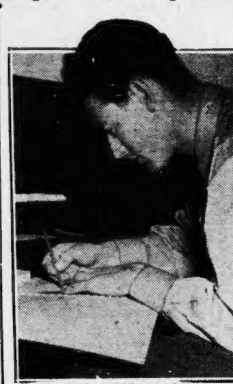

"And you know what I just heard? That he was washed out at Glenview, Ill., recently. Boy, what a shame. I'd like to write him but I'll be doggone if I can remember the town he lives in. It's about 40 miles from Boston. Name some of them."

It wasn't Worcester, and it wasn't Plymouth so we gave up eventually.

"Doc Ewen was tops though," Ted continued. "Only a young fellow, an Amherst graduate but a full-fledged professor. That guy knew everything. Used to take me out at night and explain all the stars, their names and all. Made it all sound so simple you wondered why you never knew it before."

"Then he'd take me into the lab and explain why a ball curved, what made it curve. And hitting! He knew all about that, too. He'd explain why a bat of a certain design would drive a ball farther than one of less design. Why a bat of medium weight, swung fast, would drive a ball farther than a heavy bat swung more slowly."

COULD PROOF HIT?
Are these professors ruining a 400 hitter? Will Williams be asking Johnny Orlando, the deity of the Red Sox bats in post-war days?

TED WILLIAMS
Hitting Books Now

Will he stop to think of wind velocity when trying to hit a curve ball out of the park?

"Could Doc Ewen hit himself?" we asked naively.

"Come on, you son-of-a-gun," said Ted. "I'll walk down to the bus line with you."

It was 9:15 as we trudged past tennis courts and swimming pool in this aeronautical wonderland, beautiful, peaceful setting. Looked more like a college campus at night than a war factory. As we reached the bus stop where should be there but the long-sought bench. Three Negroes and one sailor occupied it. "How about a regular Pensacola cheer for Ted Williams?" I suggested. "Who's Ted Williams?" one of the colored maidens asked.

"Just a drop in the bucket," said Ted as he ambled back to Barracks No. 838.

Ted Williams' great fondness for youngsters, and fishing, and the quiet life, are told in tomorrow's absorbing chapter of "Ted Williams Wants a Zero," in these pages.

Hub Grid Pros Set

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP)—The most extensive scramble for player material in the history of pro football was under way as prospects developed at the annual mid-winter meeting of the National Football League that at least 11 teams and perhaps 12 will operate in the circuit in 1944.

The pattern included Boston in the Eastern Division along with New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers, Pittsburgh Steelers, Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins.

Club owners and other officials convened to act upon recommendations made by the executive committee regarding franchise applications from Los Angeles, San Francisco and Buffalo, N. Y.

Bill Shea, legal advisor to Ted Collins of radio, whose application for a Boston franchise was accepted last June, said "Boston was preparing to go this fall." One scout, "Tillie" Manton, former player with the Brooklyn Dodgers, New York Giants and Texas Christian, has been hired by Boston to hunt talent in the southwest.

Boston, Shea said, will appoint two more scouts soon and will choose a coach from a list of four prospects—three college coaches and one former pro mentor—before April.

Buffalo's interests are represented by a group of five of the city's business men, including Sam Cordovano, line coach for

Golden Gloves For Air Cadets

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 13 (AP)—Military personnel of the Army Air Forces Training Command School at Yale were given permission to participate in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament in a telegram received here from Maj.-Gen. Jacob E. Fickel, commanding general of the A. A. F. E. T. C.

Authorization was granted, because of the national scope, established traditions and the non-profit charitable nature of the tournament. The fact that participation will entail travel for only a relatively small number of men was an important factor in the decision, Gen. Fickel's telegram stated.

Princeton Five Loses Fourth Straight Game

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 13 (AP)—Princeton University suffered its fourth straight defeat on the basketball court as St. Joseph's College, paced by John Flannery, racked up a 48 to 31 victory.

The Philadelphians dropped the shots from all angles with Flannery contributing 13 points. Mike Shinkarik, Tiger ace, was bottled up in an effective defense, but he managed to chalk up one field goal and six fouls for eight of the Tigers' scores.

Hoppe Holds Lead In Billiard Match

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP)—Artful Willie Hoppe, king of the cue ball, held firmly to his lead over San Francisco's Welker Cochran in their cross-country exhibition three cushion billiard match.

Hoppe won the final three blocks, 50 to 49, in 53 innings, after dropping the first two sessions. He went an extra inning to make it 52-50, Cochran reaching the 400-point mark in the Chicago portion of the match. Hoppe has a lead of 798 to 742.

Hits New High

The Ice-Capades of 1944, which completed its Boston stay at Boston Garden, last night, made an all time record run for its 16 days here. It established a record attendance, not only for Boston, but for any city in the country that the popular ice show visits.

In Boston, Ice-Capades presented 22 shows in all, including the war bond matinee on Tuesday. A total of 242,216 made up the record attendance.

OPENS FRIDAY 20th Annual SPORTSMEN'S All-Star SHOW BOSTON ARENA

EGAN TO PLAY FOR BRUINS SATURDAY

Pat Egan will get his first action for the Bruins when he takes over "Flash" Hollett's former defense duties in the game against the Rovers at the Garden on Saturday night.

Egan was disappointed when he found there would be no ice at the Garden or the Arena today. The big fellow will not be able to do any practicing until tomorrow at 5 p. m. at the Garden.

"I am overweight and need plenty of work," Egan admitted. "Jack Adams used me less and less as the season progressed at Detroit. I finally ended up watching the entire game from the bench."

Art Ross is very high on Egan. He recognizes the fact Pat is not in condition and that he will require a great deal of work to get him fit. Ross plans to give Egan the necessary time on the ice under blistering fire. In time Art feels that Egan will become a hockey firebrand like Eddie Shore.

While it is not believed Egan will ever equal Shore's amazing ability as a hockey player, he can still make a big name for himself in Boston.

Pics Play 2 On Week-End

Olympics will be shooting for consecutive victories number 13 and 14 at the Garden Friday night and Sunday afternoon when they play host to the New York Rovers and the Brooklyn Crescents.

The local team established a modern record for themselves when they emerged with their 12th straight triumph in Brooklyn, Tuesday night. The Crescent win broke a record established by the 1938-39 Olympic squad; playing their final season in the Provincial League.

B. C. High Seeks Hub Hoop Spot

Boston College high school, a member of the Boston Schoolboys Conference in football and baseball, has requested that Joe McKenney, director of physical education, include the Eagles in basketball now being re-introduced to the Boston schools.

It has been close to 17 years since the Eagles boasted a basketball team but the Rev. William J. Powers, S. J., director of athletics at the high school, declared that the boys are anxious to pick up where they left off. B. C. High has the facilities for practice and the Eagles should field a classy five.

Meanwhile, plans are progressing at a rapid pace. Dealers and manufacturers are arranging for equipment so that it wouldn't be surprising if the circuit swings into action by the first of February. The School Committee will be offered the names of coaches for approval Monday night.

"Our big drawback in this whole thing is the lack of time," says McKenney. "As things stand now, we'll probably be forced to have conflicting dates in the three sports but this will be straightened out in the future."

Good-by

Chief Petty Officer Harold Jones bids godspeed to Joan Yarnell, 20, of Brighton, as she leaves for boot training in WAVES today. Joan is granddaughter of Rear Adm. Harry E. Yarnell, under whom Jones served for many years.

Fun Time

The battle of New Guinea is forgotten for the moment ... and Army nurses and enlisted men sweat it out on a diamond.

Write Your Congressman Protesting Neglect of Discharged Veterans

Date _____

HON. _____
MEMBER OF CONGRESS,
CAPITOL BUILDING,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

I call on you to support legislation that will provide mustering out pay, clothing and hospitalization facilities for discharged service men immediately upon their return to civilian life.

I wish to register my protest against the neglect of wounded, disabled and mentally sick men of the armed forces who have been discharged without any provision for their care and treatment.

I petition you, as my representative in Congress, to do all in your power to see that those who fought and bled to preserve the American way of life will be assured the necessities of life upon their discharge from the armed forces.

This is urgent! Please act now!

Sincerely,
